MARION PEOPLE IN PADUCAH

Hayes Specific Firm Re-organized. Said That Business Will Be Pushed Vigorously.

With the reorganization of the Hayes Medicine company, incorporated by a number of ex-county officials and business men of Crittenden county, who have bought out the original stockholders, it is announced that the sale of Hayes Specific and other medicines manufactured in Paducah will be pushed vigorously and about fifteen traveling salesmen will be scattered throughout the United States and territory that has never been touched will be invaded.

Walter A. Blackburn, of Paducah, C. E. Weldon, A. J. Pickens, Carl Henderson, R. F. Haynes, and Cread C. Taylor, all of Marion, Ky., have bought out the interests of W. T. and J. M. Miller, the sole owners of the company and assumed charge. At a meeting of the new stockholders Mr. Weldon was elected president and general manager of the company with headquarters in Paducah at 403 Jefferson street where the medicines are manufactured. Mr. Blackburn was elected secretary and treasurer and preparations are being made to start out a score of traveling men to push the business.

President Weldon was for eight years, clerk of the Crittenden county court at Marion, Ky., but for the past two years he has been connected with the Turk-Guedry Grocery company of Paducah. Judge Blackburn, who is Deputy United States Court Clerk at Paducah, was formerly county judge of Crittenden county. He was appointed to his present capacity following the death of J. R. Puryear. Carl Henderson practices law at Marion, Ky. where he is now postmaster. He was formerly county attorney and county judge of Crittenden county. Mr. Pickens is ex-sheriff of that county, while Messrs. Haynes and Taylor are the leading druggists at Marion.

A new spirit has been implanted in the business by the information of the company and Hayes Specific will be pushed with renewed activity. The capital stock of the company has been increased and the new officials are pleased with the outlook for a thriving business for 1913. —Paducah Sun of Jan. 2nd 1913.

A Beautiful Quilt.

Handiwork of Mrs. Dorr.

The ladies aid society of the 1st Presbyterian church, were delighted recently to receive an order from Mrs. Carrie Maxwell of Ardmore, Oklahoma for a satine embroidered handmade quilt the value of which was placed at $20.00. The work, most of it if not all, was done by Mrs. R. F. Dorr the president of the society and it was admittedly the handsomest thing of the kind ever seen here.

Mrs. George S. Cardwell Dies at Louisville.

Mrs. Anna Cardwell, died at her home in Louisville on Thursday of last week. She at one time lived at Dixon and has many friends and relatives here who regret to hear of her death. —Providence Enterprise.

John L. Wood Announces.

John L. Wood of Shady Grove who announces in this issue as a candidate for assessor subject to the action of the democratic primary is a son of Reuben Wood one of the substantial citizens of that section. His mother is a sister of John F. Castner, and also belongs to one of the best families in the county. Mr. Wood by marriage, is related to the Vanhooser and Porter families. That he will have a strong following and poll a fine vote is already assured, and he is entirely worthy of it and has the best wishes of many of our people in his race.

Mrs. W. F. Paris Dead.

Laura Earl Flanary was born Oct. 4, 1859, married to Wm. F. Paris Feb. 6, 1884, died at her home in Lola, Ky., Jan. 4, 1913. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. U. G. Hughes, at the Baptist church at Lola, Sunday, Jan. 5, at 11 o'clock, after which she was laid to rest in the Love cemetery in Crittenden county. She leaves a loving husband, a dear brother, three precious sisters to mourn her loss. She was a sister of Harmon Flanary and Mrs. David E. Gilliland of this place.

She claimed faith in Christ in her young life but never united with any church.

We extend to the sorrowing ones our deepest sympathy and would say to them, Weep not, for God who is so merciful doeth all things well.

Great Man Honored.

Quite a distinguished complement and honor was shown Bishop Hendrix of Kansas city, Mo., when he was chosen to preside over the First quadrennial convention of the Federal Council churches of Christ in America, in which 32 denominations were represented when it convened at Chicago last month. Bishop Hendrix presided at the conference of the M. E. Church south in this city a few years ago, and also visited us during the dedication exercises at the New M. E. Church and is remembered as one of the brainiest men who has ever been the guest of our people. Besides being a polished gentleman he is a lovable character and a scholarly diplomat.

Should Keep Name in Paper.

No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name mentioned somewhere in its columns. This applies to all kinds of business—general stores, dry goods stores, groceries, furniture dealers, professional men, and in fact all classes of business men. This does not mean that you should have a whole or a half or even a quarter page ad. in every issue of the paper but your name and business should be mentioned if you do not use more than a two line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell just what business is represented in a town by looking at the business mentioned in the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and his town. He is the man who expects the paper to do most of the boosting for his town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to a town but refuses to advertise his business is not doing his share of the boosting. The life of any town depends upon the live, wideawake and liberal business men in it. —Corydon Republican.

Special Offer.

Daily Courier Journal and Crittenden Record-Press, to out-of-town subscribers $4.00 per annum, for both papers, for ten days. Sunday papers $2.00 extra.

Birthday Dinner.

Wednesday Jan. 1, 1913, was the occasion of merry making and hearty good cheer at the hospitable home near Antioch church and school house of Uncle David E. Hilliard and Uncle Dave as he is familiarly called celebrated his eightieth birthday. His neighbors having been invited, took their axes and saws, along with their wagons and put in the time in a jolly social way for which Antioch neighborhood is noted, cut and hauled enough wood to last Uncle Dave all winter and when the dinner hour arrived the good women had a feast of good things ready, which kings might envy. Fifty-seven persons were there to enjoy the generous hospitality so lavishly dispensed and left wishing Uncle Dave many happy returns of his natal day. —ONE PRESENT.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of thanking our many friends who was so faithful to us in the sickness and death of our dear husband and father. May God's richest blessings rest on them one and all is our prayers.

Mrs. E. B. Stone and W. E. Stone.

Judge Gordon May

Run For Congress.

It is rumored that Judge J. Flem Gordon expects to become a candidate for congress in the event A. O. Stanley wins the senatorial race. The Hustler has not seen Judge Gordon and this rumor is published for what it is worth. If he should enter the race, business would pick up, there's no question about that. He is a vigorous campaigner. —Madisonville Hustler.

If they could gerrymander a few counties out of the first district over into the second the Judge would carry them solidly alright enough, but if this isn't done we opine the borders will have to be watched to keep some of his friends from crossing the frontier on election day.

DEMOCRATS ELECTED GOVERNOR IN N. H.

Samuel D. Felker Chosen Executive By Joint Session Of Legislature

Concord, N. H., Jan. 2 —The New Hampshire legislature in joint convention tonight elected as governor Samuel D. Felker, the democratic candidate at the last election. He received 221 votes to 191 for Franklin Worcester, republican. The progressive voted with the democrats.

Robbed of 500 Old Nickels.

While Albert Kuhn and his wife, who live at 323 East Forty-eighth street, were away at work Tuesday, thieves entered their flat and made off with considerable loot.

A tin safety box was found in the hall by the janitress, and when Mrs. Kuhn came home the janitress showed it to her. Mrs. Kuhn immediately identified it as one that had been in a trunk in her room and had contained about 500 nickels of the old type that she had made a hobby of collecting since 1883. —New York Times.

Providence Enterprise Items.

Rev. J. F. Price preached at the Presbyterian church here Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. Beverly T. Towery returned to Chicago Tuesday after spending the holidays here with relatives. His wife will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Todd, in Crittenden county for several weeks.

Mr. John B. Ford, one of Crittenden county's leading farmers was in the city Tuesday and renewed his subscription for the Enterprise. Mr. Ford has been staunch friend of the Enterprise since it was first started, over ten years ago and is always one of the first to pay his subscription.

How To Class Tobacco.

The question has been asked me numerous of times "how to class unsold tobacco," will say, I would put tobacco in three classes—leaf, lugs and trash. Give the low grades the benefit of all doubts. Tie in small, neat hands, say, 6 to 10 leaves to the hand, keep length tied separate whether you bulk it separate or not. In this way you catch every buyer. There are some buyers, who wont buy tobacco in two classes or large hands, but all will buy in three classes tied in neat hands.

Yours Truly,
R. H. KEMP.

Board of Tax Supervisors.

The following Board of tax supervisors was appointed by County Judge, J. W. Blue, at the November term:—Marion Ford of Piney, Cort J. Pierce of Marion, George W. Parrish of Frances, George T. Belt of Sheridan, and E. L. Nunn of Rodney. On account of ill health Mr. Parrish sent in his resignation and W. F. Oliver was appointed to fill the vacancy. E. L. Nunn also could not serve and J. R. Summerville was selected to fill his place. The board has been in session this week.

Burrell Walker's House Burned in the County.

B. F. Walker Sr, lost his country home and contents last week by fire. The premises were occupied by his son Leslie Walker and wife but they were absent when the fire occurred and lost all their house hold and kitchen furniture with no insurance. We understand the Sr. Walker who resides here had a small insurance policy on the house.

Cancer Serum is Found By Chicagoan

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Dr. A. A. Whamond, president of the Robert Burns hospital, tonight announced that during the last five months he has cured many cases of cancer by the use of a cancer specific discovered by Dr. Joseph Stefano. Dr. Whamond refused to give the exact nature of the compound used, saying the subject would be presented to the Chicago Medical Society shortly after the middle of the month.

Giant Eagles Captured.

Kingfisher, Okla.—Four big golden headed eagles were brought here by farmers who captured them and killed a fifth in the Gyp Hills, northwest of here. The farmers said a flock of seven of the birds had their arries in the hills and have been carrying off small stock in such numbers that they organized to exterminate them.

The birds have taken away lambs and pigs, and some of the residents assert that the eagles instead of gypsies carried away an infant child from the community a few months ago. One of the captive birds measures nearly eight feet from tip to tip of its outspread wings.

BUILD OWN LEVEE

Citizens of Columbus, Ky., Refused Government Aid Get Busy.

Hickman, Ky., Dec. 28.—The Government having declined to help Columbus, Ky. (twenty miles above Hickman), build a levee to protect the town from any overflow when the river gets on a big rampage, as it did last spring, the people of that little city have decided to build a levee out of their own resources. It was estimated that $2,500 or $3,000 would be required, but since the work has progressed so favorably due to the exceptionally good weather of the fall, it is believed the cost will not exceed $2,000.

Burklow-Moran.

Married Jan. 2, 1913, at the home of Rev. R. A. LaRue, on West Depot Street, Harrison Burklow and Miss Pearl Moran. The contracting parties are popular young people of the New Salem section. After the ceremony the happy pair proceeded to the home of the groom's mother, where a royal feast and welcome awaited them. Their friends join in wishing them the experience of the twenty-third Psalm.

It Pays To Smile.

Mr. W. L. Venner sent Rev. M. E. Miller a beautiful trio of Rhode Island Red chickens. The Preacher saw Mr. Venner in the Post Office and asked him what he owed him for the chickens. When Mr. Venner was heard to say, "There is no man in town that I think more of than the little Baptist Preacher, and when I was getting ready to leave town, I thought, I wish I had a million dollars then I would write a check for a thousand and present it to M. E. Miller, as an appreciation for the smile he always wears; but as I am not, I will do the next best and send him the three prettiest Chickens in my flock and tell him to keep that smile and brighten the world."

Wofford-Watson.

On last Wednesday evening, Jan. 1st, 1913, at 7:30 Miss Toy Wofford and Alva Watson were united in marriage by Rev. G. Y. Wilson of Tolu.

The ceremony was pronounced at the home of the bride's father, T. N. Wofford, near Dunn Spring in the presence of 50 or 60 friends of the popular young couple.

The bride is the oldest daughter of T. N. Wofford and is a general favorite in the community. Her manners are quiet and unassuming; in disposition she is modest and pleasant; in short she possesses all the qualities that make a true Kentucky girl. The groom is a young farmer of the Carrsville section.

The attendants were Miss Gretna Mae Holeman and Mat Hughes, Miss Maud Wofford, the youngest sister of the bride and Hollis C. Franklin, of Hebron who the 5th time during the winter served as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson will go to housekeeping on the Judge Evans farm near E-town landing. The Record-Press joins the many friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous New Year and extends best wishes for a bright future.

BUILDING AN ICE-HOUSE.

My house is on a clay bank. I excavated about 18 inches, used some old railroad ties for sills filled up the inside with gravel and ran a porous drain-tile around the outside and down the bank. The soil is well packed around the outside. The superstructure is on a frame of 2x5 studs, 14-foot posts. It is sided with 12 inch barn boards, laid like clapboards and lapped an inch. The roof is the ordinary tar felt. An ice-house must also be well ventilated at the top, so that the packing will keep dry. I floored mine loosely, ten feet from the bottom, and keep a layer of straw in the upper part. There is a slatted ventilator in the roof 2x4 feet. The house is 18x18 feet square and cost just about $200, with hemlock at $21 per thousand. We put in several layers of 10-inch ice last winter, making about 70 tons, at a cost of $18. We have used it lavishly all summer and will have about half left. The house stands where the sun strikes it all day long, without shade of any kind. Trees or vines on the exposed side are a great advantage.

Now as for packing the ice. By all means use sawdust. I was obliged to use part plaining mill shaving last winter, but they are too porous and not nearly so good. The ice should be cut in cakes longer one way than the other, so that, in placing one layer on the other, joints may be broken; 22x28 inches is a good size. It should be kept a foot away from the wall all the way around and 6 inches of sawdust should be placed on the bottom. The cakes should be laid to sit as closely as possible and all cracks and corners should be carefully chinked with fine particles of ice stamped in with the point of a bar or some convenient tool. The next layer should be placed in the same manner, taking care to break joints. When the house is packed the least melting will cause the whole mass to freeze in one solid block. As each layer is put in the house, sawdust should be packed around the sides as firmly as it can be stamped down. About two feet of sawdust should go on top as it will gradually settle somewhat and will need occasional packing around the sides. Remember to get ice as clear as possible, and that a crop harvested in zero weather will keep much better than when gathered at near the freezing point; 10 to 12 inches in thickness is the most convenient to handle, and there will be least waste.—Country Gentleman.

SPECIALTY. ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS. M. NEX SMITH, M. D., 1217 N. OLIVE ST. ST. LOUIS, MO.

WHAT THE YOUNG BOYS ARE DOING

Rapid Strides Made by Kentucky
Corn Club Workers.

BETTER THAN THEIR FATHERS?

Increased Yields as Shown in the Exhibition at Louisville Demonstrate the Manner in Which Younger Generation is Advancing.

During the months of November and December the county papers all over the state were full of glowing accounts of the Boys' Corn shows. Probably nothing that the boys have done in years has created such a widespread interest as these same clubs. The large cities of the state had not been affected by this enthusiasm until the Kentucky Boys' Corn club held its exhibit at the Armory in Louisville in connection with the Childs' Welfare exhibit, Nov. 21 to 30.

One hundred boys from the various counties that had corn clubs this season sent ten ears each for the city people to see what was being done. Not only the public, but the great daily newspapers grew very much interested. A number of editorials appeared during the ten days of the exhibit, and almost daily a picture of some successful corn grower appeared. This display contained five varieties of corn.

As the visitors to the exhibit asked questions or read carefully the labels that were pinned beneath each display of corn they began to exclaim: "There must be some mistake in this. We never raised that much corn on the farm when I was a boy," or, "Why, those yields are twice or three times the amount of a first class crop of corn in that neck of the woods!" Bankers and grain men looked at the statement of yields, scratched their heads and began to figure on what such crops would do for the finances of the state. Mothers and educators smiled and wondered how much mischief had failed to materialize because the boys were out in the sunshine cultivating and thinking of the crops they were growing.

It did seem a great pity that more of the boys who had entered their corn

CORN IS KING.

In the exhibit could not have seen the admiring crowds that stopped, talked and exclaimed over the splendid work they had done. It is a work that is destined to revolutionize our boys and perhaps at the same time revolutionize their fathers and elder brothers. One found father whose son had a yield of 103 bushels to the acre remarked: "I've got two little chaps in the Corn club in my home county. They're small, but they're all right. One is ten and the other twelve. The older boy was in the club last year and raised eighty-five bushels. This year he's got 103, and we are planning to get 150 bushels next year. Yes, we're going to use a lot of fertilizers and do things right, because I just want to see how much they can raise on one acre. I want to see it worse than the boys do."

The man paused for a moment before he continued: "You know, they call it the Boys' Corn club. Why, I've learned more about corn in the past two years than both of my boys put together. I tell you what I'm going to do. I am going to plant just half as much land as usual in corn next spring, and I'm going to try to raise just the same number of bushels. Then I'll have the rest of the land for cowpens."

During the exhibit a number of reports came in concerning the great size of some of the crops this season. It is very probable that a great number will exceed the 100 bushel mark, which was not reached last season.

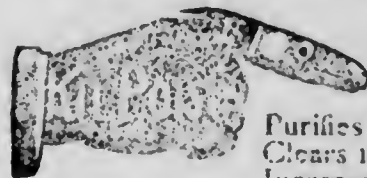

FIVE THOUSAND BOYS JOINED THE BOYS' CORN CLUBS THIS YEAR.

FOUR THOUSAND GREW AN ACRE OF CORN UNDER GOVERNMENT INSTRUCTION.

THE BOYS KNOW A GOOD THING WHEN THEY FIND IT.

THE AVERAGE YIELD OF CORN IN KENTUCKY IS TWENTY-NINE BUSHELS PER ACRE. AN INCREASE OF FIVE BUSHELS PER ACRE WOULD MEAN $12,000,000 AT 60 CENTS PER BUSHEL.

Stories of the Town

Things Serious and Fricolous Talked

CHASED BY THE SHERIFF

(Reported by R. C. Haynes.)

A few days ago a number of men had gathered in one of our popular barber shops, each waiting his turn to be "next," and, being comfortably situated—entirely exempt from the effects of the cold, north wind which blew up the streets and whistled around the corners of the buildings, sending great blasts of snow against the less fortunate pedestrians without—they were passing away the time by exchanging stories of various happenings of which they had knowledge, among others, the attempted escape of a certain prisoner from Judge Blue's court recently.

"Ever since a certain period of my life," spoke up a gentleman who had been so far a silent listener, "whenever I see a chase such as has been so ably narrated and commented upon, my sympathy goes out to the fellow who is being pursued rather than to his pursuers."

"To what particular period do you refer?" he was asked.

"Tell us about it, Zebulum."

The crowd, knowing Zebulum's propensity for story-telling, drew closer around, feeling confident he had a good one in store for them.

"There was an incident in my life, gentlemen," said Zebulum in compliance, "which, I must say, completely revolutionized my views on such matters. I cannot now, by grab, see a rabbit chased by dogs without wanting to lend a helping hand to the rabbit by scattering the blamed dogs to the four winds."

"The incident to which I refer," the story-teller went on, "happened years and years ago, before some of you gentlemen were born; yet it can be remembered by some of the oldest residents of the county."

idents of the county.

"I have never told of the adventure but a few times, my wife being averse to having it narrated, owing to the figure she cut in the affair, though, bless her heart, I have always been proud of the heroic part she carried out on that occasion."

"Seeing, gentlemen, that I will have to wait some time for my hair-cut—which you see I stand in need of—I will tell you the story in as few words as possible."

"It happened, as I have said, years ago, when I was a young man; and now, by grab, I have grandchildren thinking of getting married."

"Marion at that time was a very small town, not even as large as my own town of Ford's Ferry. It was little more than a place where two roads crossed. Yet it was the county seat and had a courthouse, where justice was dealt out, same as now. It had a sheriff and a deputy and a town marshal, whose duty it was to see that no guilty man escaped, same as now. It had lawyers and a judge, whose duty it was to expound and apply the law, same as now. It had a physician or two, whose business it was to see that no scoundrel escaped vaccination or jumped his quarantine, same as now. It had a tavern, including a bar; a couple of general merchandise stores, in one of which the post-office was kept; a drug store, a church, a school house and a few residences occupied by mighty good citizens. It had no railroad, no telegraph, no telephones, no express office, no newspaper, no banks, no rural routes, no electric lights, no automobiles, and there were fewer buggies and carriages in the county then, by grab, than there are automobiles now."

"Such, gentlemen, was the town of Marion at the time I refer to. I was a stranger in the town, though I was quite well known in Ford's Ferry and the country round about, having come there several months before from Smith county, Tennessee. About the first thing I did, by grab, after I got here was to fall in love."

"Yes, gentlemen, I fell in love, heels over head. I had a desperate case of it. You could not have blamed me though if you could have known Nell at that time. To my way of looking at things, she was the only girl worth considering in a matrimonial way. In fact, every pound that girl weighed represented to me, by grab, just that much preciousness."

"But I didn't start out to tell you of my courtship or my love affairs, and will not do so, except the part connected with the unfortunate adventure to which I have referred."

"It was a day in October and, after eating an early dinner, I donned my best suit of clothes, mounted my old horse, Slick Selim, and started for Marion. I was going on very important business and was as happy and gay as the birds that sang in the trees over my head as I rode along the road. I was going to the county seat for my marriage license."

I had asked Nell if she wouldn't be my wife and she, after treating me like a dog for a week by making me wait in doubt and cold perspiration as to my final destination, graciously accorded me an answer in the affirmative."

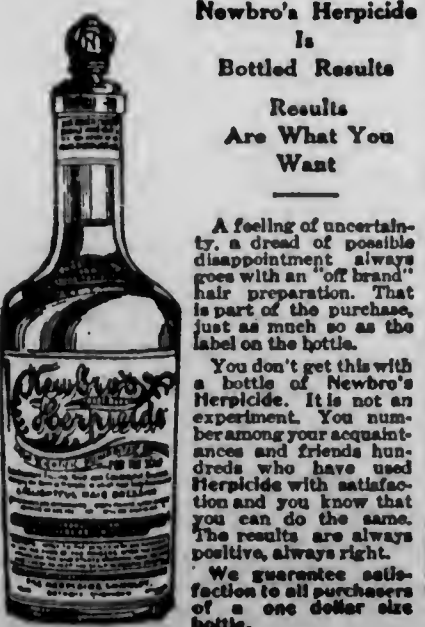

"After giving her a couple of kisses and a hug as a reward for her somewhat delayed but satisfactory reply I, as I have just said, mounted old Slick Selim and started on my way for a visit to the county clerk."

"I arrived in Marion between one and two o'clock and knowing no one in the town I went directly to the clerk's office. After satisfying myself that he could do so without violating the Kentucky statutes, the clerk issued the license and tossed the paper toward me across the table, corking his ink-bottle with his right hand and holding out his left for his fee."

"Going down into my pocket I unbegrudgingly fished out the necessary coin. What was a paltry dollar or two compared to the great favor the commonwealth of Kentucky had just bestowed upon me?"

"Taking up the folded paper,

DON'T BUY BOTTLED PROMISES

HAYNES & TAYLOR.

I opened it just enough to glance at the inside. There it was, in black and white. It authorized Mr. Zebulum So-and-So, aged 20, and Miss Nell So-and-So, aged 17, to be united in holy wedlock. Signed Berry S. Young, clerk."

"It looked good to me. Refolding it, I placed the license in my pocket, left the office and walked down the corridor of the courthouse, feeling in my pocket every few steps to see if the paper was still there."

"It was my intention to mount Slick Selim and be off at once. The wedding was set for four o'clock and I would have just about time enough to make good my appearance on the scene where I was scheduled for an important part on the program."

"So far, gentlemen, everything had gone my way. I felt good and at peace with all mankind. I had no premonition of the rapid approach of coming events, which, it is said, cast their shadows before."

"As I was going down the courthouse steps two men, who were just outside the court enclosure and a little south of the gate, began to biff each other at a great rate. It was an old fashioned fist-and-skull fight, very common in those days, especially about election time."

"I have always favored peace rather than war. I was, and am still, a member of the Presbyterian church in good standing, so I felt it my duty on that occasion, although I was in a hurry to be off, to lend an interceding hand in behalf of peace between the two combatants."

"Just as I passed through the gate, however, one of the fighters gave his antagonist a solar plexus blow which sent him to the ground, where he lay motionless and apparently as dead as a door nail!"

"I looked around. The streets were deserted, there was no one else in sight, I had been the only spectator of the fight. It was no affair of mine, I reflected, and was about to pass on when a man stepped out of the White Tavern bar and, seeing there had been a fight, came running toward the courthouse."

"What's the matter here?" he asked, when he came up to where the two of us stood.

"Who struck Bobby Broadway?" "Before I had time to frame a reply, the man who had struck Bobby Broadway said:

"You see, Sol, it was this way. This gentleman and I were standing here, considering whether we should go over to the White Tavern, when Bobby Broadway stepped up. Bobby had just come from the tavern and was feeling good, so when he got up here where we were standing, he said, without asserting our political views, 'Hurrah for Horace Greeley!' when this gentleman (pointing to me) up with his fist and gave him a punch, which seems to have put his lights out."

"The man addressed as Sol, whose name I afterward learned was Solomon Wiggleford, turned to me. 'Does Highfield Jones tell the straight of it?' he asked."

"I told him that Highfield was lying, that he himself was the guilty man and that I was innocent. I told him my name, adding that I was from Ford's Ferry and that I had come up on very important business."

"Solomon had, as I have said, just come from the tavern bar and had by this time begun to feel the effect of a dram or two."

"Well," said Solomon Wiggleford, scratching his head in perplexity, "I don't know who struck Bobby Broadway, but, by George, it is plain enough that Bobby Broadway was struck by somebody while he was simply exercising his political rights under our glorious constitution. Now the question is, Who struck Bobby Broadway? If you two fellows think it will be another Billy Patterson affair you are mistaken. I'm not an officer, or I would arrest you both, to make sure the capture of the scoundrel who struck Bobby Broadway. I would, by jinks, or I'm not Solomon Wiggleford. By jinks, I can whip the man who struck Bobby Broadway, and I can whip the man who didn't! Whoop-ee! Hurrah for Horace Greeley!"

"The longer Solomon talked the more excited he became, and I was about to go on and leave them, when he stepped over to the gate and yelled, 'Tom!'"

"He's calling the town marshal," whispered Highfield Jones, "and Dickinson will be here in a minute. We've got to get out of this the best way we can."

"I Am Well"

writes Mrs. L. R. Barker, of Bud, Ky., "and can do all my housework. For years I suffered with such pains, I could scarcely stand on my feet. After three different doctors had failed to help me, I gave Cardui a trial. Now, I feel like a new woman."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

A woman's health depends so much upon her delicate organs, that the least trouble there affects her whole system. It is the little things that count, in a woman's life and health. If you suffer from any of the aches and pains, due to womanly weakness, take Cardui at once, and avoid more serious troubles. We urge you to try it. Begin today.

Fools A Foul Plot.

When a shameful plot exists between liver and bowels to cause distress by refusing to act, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end such abuse of your system. S. D. T. A. NEWS.

BY JAMES N. BANKS.

Here on Jan. 6th, Monday morning, I write to the out-town papers to tell them the District Board, representing the five counties of the Stemming Association, meets in this city at noon today, to consider several very important propositions.

The negotiations for a sale of the Association tobacco is rapidly approaching a climax. Thus far only one definite and distinct offer has been made, and that offer for only four millions of the 27 millions of pooled tobacco. Prudential considerations restrain the District Board from giving the exact figures bid for the four million pounds. Sufficient to say it was between 6 to 8 cents. Since the District Board will be engaged today and tomorrow conferring with the buyers, I shall enter into no speculations as to the finality of the conference.

The officers of the Association particularly request the editors of the newspapers in every county to publish prominently the following resolution, which has already been published by some of the editors. These same papers will confer a special favor upon the Association by republishing the resolution, which fortunately is not very long, but is quite as important as though it were a column in length.

VICTORIOUS.

In this association the time, attention and labor of men is no longer solely for the purpose of business.

Farmers' co-operation has become a religion.

Members of this association have been converted to the belief that farmers' co-operation is real piety in practice, and consists in the performance of all known duties to God and man. Ardent and sincere in their passionate zeal for a noble cause the members of this association have become enthusiasts—zealots if need be. And history abundantly teaches the triumphs achieved by zealots for a noble cause over cruel opposition and brutal persecution.

The members of this association are not fighting among themselves, but are standing shoulder to shoulder right behind the district board. It is no longer a question of business, it is a question of manhood in the discharge of patriotic duty and religion.

And I, who have been a sentinel on the watch-tower for seven long years, one of many sentinels, and not the least efficient I trust, am content at last.

For nine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord. And farmers' co-operation is no longer mere business. Farmers' co-operation is a religion.

After any Sickness

nothing so rapidly restores health and vigor as SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is the essence of natural body-nourishment, so medically perfect that nature immediately appropriates and distributes it to every organ, every tissue—feeding, nourishing and restoring them to normal activity.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is not a patent medicine, but is nature's body-nourishment with curative, upbuilding properties and without a drop of drug or alcohol. It contains superior cod liver oil, the hypophosphites of lime and soda with glycerine, and is so delicately emulsified that it enters the system without digestive effort—builds, tones and sustains.

After croup, whooping cough, measles and other child ailments it is nature's ally in restoring health.

After grippe or pneumonia it imparts strength and health, and for colds, coughs, sore, tight chests and throat troubles SCOTT'S EMULSION gives the greatest relief known.

DOES DOMESTIC SCIENCE PAY?

How It Progressed In Warren County Despite Opposition.

THE OLD IDEAS ARE OVERCOME

The Good Work of Daisy Kite, Who Won a Fifty Dollar Prize For All Round Excellence, a Splendid Example of What Has Been Done.

We may live without poetry, music and art.
We may live without conscience,
We may live without heart,
We may live without friends,
We may live without books,
But civilized man cannot live without cooks.

—Moredith.
The old feeling of "my father didn't farm that way" or "my mother didn't learn to cook that way" is the most difficult thing to overcome in any old community. Practically everything that has come into our schools in the past has had a hard battle to wage against these two phrases. Fortunately here and there in the rural schools the teaching of sewing and cooking has gained a foothold. In Warren county this year the people were fortunate enough to have a competent woman go from school to school with her equipment in a wagon and give some instruction.

Naturally there was some grumbling among those who belong to the "old school," the school that believes that "what was good enough for my father is good enough for my children," but something happened when the school fair was held this autumn. A number of prizes had been offered for exhibits of needle work and cooking; also, a grand prize of $50 in gold to the girl showing the greatest amount of fine work in all classes. This grand prize was awarded to Daisy Kite.

As soon as the award was made known, some outsider asked "Where is this girl that has done so much splendid work, covering, sewing, beaten biscuit and fine cake making?" A sympathetic smile flitted across a teacher's face as she replied, "Did you see the parade downtown this morning?"

"Yes. Why?"
"Did you notice a lame girl with a face written over large with the word 'Pluck'?" That was Daisy Kite. She does what the others do, in spite of the fact that she has been on a crutch since she had a hip crushed when she was three."

"Oh, her father is a farmer who rents somewhere out in the county here, and Daisy had been going to the country school in the neighborhood. It is just a case that shows that sewing, cooking, practical things, will pay in our school system everywhere. If the work this year in the county has cost something Daisy Kite's opportunity that has come would pay the whole bill."

"What do you mean?"
"I mean that the whole neighborhood is now interested in the child and will see that she get a real education. And if that comes true Daisy will have grown. More than that, the neighborhood will have grown through doing good for some one. I am certain that there are hundreds of Daisy Kites in the nooks and corners of the state waiting to be touched by something vital in education. I don't mean the education that lies between the covers of a blue back speller, a reader or an arithmetic, but the education that appeals to the child because it fits his life's activities."

Through Rare Operation Boy Is Learning To Walk.

Boston Mass, Jan. 3.—Through a rare operation and the efforts of his school teacher, who took pity on one of her pupils, a ten-year-old boy, Wilfred Salmon, of Lynn is learning to walk today.

Since his birth he has been unable to stand on his feet as the result of infantile paralysis. An operation has proven successful, and the lad is taking his first walking lessons.

By transplanting some of the livid tendons of his leg to the other side in place of dead ones, and removing one of the bones of the ankle in order to restore the use of these joints the use of his limbs was made possible.

Here is a remedy that will cure your cold. Why waste time and money experimenting when you can get a preparation that has won a world-wide reputation by its cures of this disease and can always be depended upon? I know everywhere as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and is a medicine of real merit. For sale by all dealers.

The Troubles of The Green River Association.

On the other side of Green River the tobacco growers of Hancock, Daviess and McLean have pooled with the Green River Association about twenty-two million pounds of tobacco. Along about the 1st of Nov. the Association offered the buyers the pooled tobacco at from ten down to six for leaf and lugs and three for the trash. The buyers inspected the samples and, with singular unanimity, declared that from 8 down to 6 for leaf and lugs and 3 for trash was all that the pooled tobacco was worth. Just here it is pertinent to explain that from all the surface indications the combine is working territorially—that is to say, it is quite patent now, as for some years past, the American Tobacco Co., rules on the other side of Green River, while the Imperial Tobacco Co., is captain of the quarter deck on this, the west side of Green River; in other words the growers on the east side of Green River who grow an air cured type of tobacco, the growers all are tenants of the American Tobacco Co., and on this the west side of Green River, where we grow a fire cured type of tobacco, the growers all are tenants of the Imperial Tobacco Co. Gallaher Company, Limited, is dominated by these two colossal corporations, and is forced to trial along in their wake and take what they are pleased to allot it, and of course at the price they make.

The Court of Appeals of Kentucky have declared that any combination to depress the price of tobacco below its real value is in restraint of trade and will not be permitted. I think it needless to elaborate the foregoing facts and will proceed now to tell about the complications concerning the Green River Tobacco Association.

Two weeks ago an offer was made to the Green River Association for all of its holdings at from 9 down to 5 for leaf and lugs and 3 for trash. The Board of Control or Sales Committee for the Green River Association accepted the bid, conditioned on its ratification by the members of the Association. A meeting was called and the members of the Association assembled in Owensboro last Tuesday in response thereto. A great crowd of growers assembled in Owensboro on that day. Now be it known that another association called the 'Home Warehouse Co.' is operating in the county of Daviess. This Association has about six or seven million pounds of tobacco pooled in it. Note now the factors on the other side of Green River; members of the Green River Association; members of the Home Warehouse Co.; and the dumpers, this latter class controlling about 25 per cent of the crop.

Roundly speaking, the members of the Home Warehouse Co., and the dumpers were unanimously opposed to the sale of the Green River Association's tobacco at the figures I have given above, namely—9cts., down to 5cts., for leaf and lugs, and 3cts., for the trash. Moreover it seemed quite plain, to an impartial observer in Owensboro last Tuesday, the 24th of Dec., that quite two to one of the growers assembled in Owensboro were opposed to a sale at the figures named. At one o'clock the growers began to assemble in the Court House at Owensboro. While the meeting was called for members of the Green River Association, all the tobacco growers in Owensboro on that day, many of whom were not members of the Green River Association, tried to get in the Court House. Hundreds were turned away, and the Court House was packed and jammed with excited tobacco growers. The meeting turned out to be a howling mob and no business could be transacted.

President Riney of the Green River Association, after calling on members of the Green River Association to a meeting in the County Judge's office, declared the meeting adjourned. A small number of the members of the Green River Association following President Riney met in the County Judge's office and resolved to hold an election to last until the following Saturday night, Dec. 28th, and declared that ballots received by mail, postal card or letter, would be counted for or against the sale. Bear in mind now that this notice was issued on Wednesday, and since there were no papers published in Hancock or McLean after Wednesday, owing to the Christmas holidays, members of the Green River Association who were opposed to the sale complain bitterly of the action of the Board of Control. However, the election proceeded on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and on Sunday the Owensboro papers published as the result of that election, that members of the Green River Association had declared in favor of the sale at from 9cts down to 5cts., for leaf and lugs and 3cts., for trash. The Owensboro papers gave the vote at 1400 favoring the sale and about 300 opposed to the sale. The result showed only about one third of the members of the Association participated in the election, fully two thirds of the members, some ignorant of any election, others fore-shadowing the result, positively refused to take any part in it, declaring that they would not be bound by a sale at those figures. In consequence of all of the foregoing complications my readers may readily imagine that immense dissatisfaction, immense irritation and great turmoil is agitating the minds of members of the Green River Association and all other tobacco growers on the east side of Green River. Those openly opposing the sale are declaring that the whole election was conducted and manipulated in the interest of the American Tobacco Co. Indeed the growers of Hancock county publicly and in print openly charge that this was the case.

Tobacco specialists here in Henderson declare that the sale at from 9cts. to 5cts., for leaf and lugs and 3cts., for the trash is equivalent to an average not in excess of $5.75 per 100.

It is said in Owensboro that if the sale is recognized and the terms carried out by the members of the Green River Association, that the American Tobacco Co., will get nine or ten millions of pounds of the pooled tobacco and the Imperial Tobacco Co., will get nine millions, which will leave three or four millions for Gallaher.

Needless to say that this turmoil on the other side of Green River is not helpful to a sale of tobacco on this, the west side of Green River.

The Stemming District Association has offered 27 or 28 million pounds of pooled tobacco at 8 cents average from the ground up. The buyers have declared that this is quite $1.50 per hundred too much, and there the matter hangs, just where it has been hanging for four weeks. Members are standing behind the sales committee as solid as a stone wall and declare they will let their tobacco hang in the barn if necessary and cut out the 1913 crop before they will ever consent to a sale of 6cts. The District Board, which in point of fact is the sales committee, are as firm and unanimous as are the members and are resolved never to take less than the 8 cents average.

The District Board, composed of one committeeman from each of the five counties, was in session here in Henderson, Monday, December 30th, 1912. Several schemes of weighty importance are to be threshed out today, which will be communicated promptly to the newspapers in the five counties.

The Stemming District Association Committeemen Meet.

After a session lasting Monday, and until midnight of that day, and until noon of Tuesday, the district board of the Stemming District Association adjourned and returned to their several homes on Tuesday afternoon.

We, in some instances, by indirect means, find directions out.

The good and loyal members of this association realize to the limit the all but insurmountable obstacles confronting the members of the district board of the Stemming association.

The court of appeals of Kentucky has solemnly recorded a decision which plainly says, "A combination to depress below its real value the price of tobacco shall be unlawful."

This association through a responsible committee of specialists has proven that the cost of production of the stemming type of tobacco is 8c cents per pound. And the association holds itself in readiness to prove the same before any impartial tribunal in the world.

And yet the tobacco growers embraced by this association have, at no time in the past twelve years been paid the cost of production for tobacco. The present district conjecturing the survival of a combination declared unlawful by state courts and by the supreme court of the United States did, some weeks since, offer twenty seven millions of pounds of the stemming type of tobacco at the price of 8 cents average—a fraction under the cost of production.

That offer rejected by the buyers. Buyers said or intimated that an average of 6c cents would be quite enough for the 1912 crop.

The Imperial buyers asked a price at broken figures.

Manager Elliott replied he was not authorized to make a broken figure price.

At the meeting of the district board Monday it was suggested that Mr. Edwin Hodge be invited to a conference with the board. So agreed, and the invitation duly sent. In answer it was explained that Mr. Hodge had an engagement to be in Owensboro Tuesday. Shortly after the arrival from Owensboro of the noon train on Tuesday Mr. Hodge reported to Mr. Elliott he was ready to go before the board. But the board had adjourned, and the members were on the way to their several homes.

Mr. John H. Hodge, agent for the Regie people, was in conference with the district board Tuesday morning. A reporter for the Evening Journal published in that paper Tuesday evening the following report of an interview with John H. Hodge:

"I made no offer to the district board of the Stemming District Association," said John H. Hodge, to the Hodge Tobacco Co., Tuesday afternoon. "I met with the gentlemen but there was nothing serious about the meeting as far as I could see it. I had no offer to make for the tobacco and hence made none."

"Is there any chance, in your opinion, of an early sale?" asked the reporter of the Journal.

"As far as I am concerned there isn't," said Mr. Hodge.

FIVE YEAR POOL RECOMMENDED.

On Monday the following preamble and resolutions were introduced by Committeeman J. G. Nance, of Webster, and passed by the board:

Whereas, The Stemming District Tobacco Association has been in operation for six years, and whereas its management has been satisfactory to a great majority of the tobacco growers in its territory, and deemed safe and trustworthy, and by its operations millions of dollars have come to the producers, that otherwise would have gone to the trust; and,

Whereas, the unsettled state of affairs and great cost that yearly pooling bring about justify pooling for a longer period than one year. Therefore be it,

Resolved, That the term of pooling be (5) years and that pooling papers be issued at once and that a call be and the same is hereby made for the members throughout the five counties Henderson, Webster, Union, Hopkins and Crittenden to meet at their respective school houses on Friday night, Jan. 17, 1913, at 7 o'clock for the purpose of pooling all the tobacco they, severally or combined may grow or control during the years, 1913, 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917.

That the several magisterial committeemen appoint an active, true, association member to attend the meeting in his school district, and attend to said pooling.

Each member of the board will return to his home county with one or more concerted missions.

And each member of the board charged that members throughout the district be strongly urged to let the tobacco hang in the barn until further advice.

Manager Elliott and the board are greatly cheered and strengthened by the unwavering support of members and are concertedly working on a plan which, if consummated, will, in case of failure of a sale, afford a consoling substitute.

Continue to bravely back your committee and—and let your tobacco hang in the barn—no matter how good the season is for striking down.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all concerned that on January 13th, 1913, I will move the Crittenden County Court for a change in the public road leading from Marion to Sheridan so that the road when changed will run as follows:

Beginning at a stone in the fork of the road where the Marion road leaves the Wallace Ferry and Fredonia road; thence with the Fredonia road S 50 E, 44 1-2 poles to a stone in said road, opposite C. E. Donakey's residence; thence with said road with its meanders S 44 E 20 poles S 23 E 31 poles; thence S 17 E, 32 poles to a stone, in all with said road 127 1-2 poles; here we run across the land of Ed Moore N 84 1-2 E, 79 poles, running with and on the north side of his fence which divides his farm to a stone in the land line of Ed Moore and Henry Lynn; thence across Lynn's land through his field N 71 E, 46 poles to a stone, N 57 E, 46 1 2 poles to Lynn's and Campbell's land line; thence across Campbell's land N 57 E, 16 poles to a stone, N 38 E 55 1 2 poles to a small double white oak on the bank of drain, N 41 E 14 poles, N 39 1-2 E 78 poles, ending at a stone in Marion and Tolu road at foot of Griffith's hill Bob Pogue's house and 13 poles from a small bridge near the old chalybeate spring, a total distance of about 1 and 1-4 miles. Of this distance 127 1 2 poles is along the present Wallace Ferry and Fredonia road as now established. The remaining distance is 79 poles through the land of Ed Moore and wife, 92 1 2 poles through the land of Henry Lynn, and 163 and 1-2 poles through the land of Larned A. Campbell.

The effect of this change is to remove the public road from over what is known as the Griffith or Love graveyard hill but to leave so much of said hill road public as leads from Wallace Ferry and Fredonia road to the Love Graveyard.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

[From a series of elaborate chemical tests.]

Comparative digestibility of food made with different baking powders.

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of two kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

99 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 Per Cent. Digested

Royal Baking Powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

W. A. Horning and Jas. Kemp were in Providence, Wednesday.

Miss Ethel Curry, daughter of John Lewis Curry, was married Wednesday, Dec. 25th, to Carl Reynolds, a prosperous young farmer of this community, Rev. O. D. Spence, of Blackford, officiating. The bride is an amiable disposition, while the groom has resided in this section only a year—yet we wish this happy couple a smooth journey, a long and happy life.

The boys and girls of this and adjoining communities gave some splendid recitations and entertained the public at the Baptist church here Christmas day.

NEW SALEM

This is our first letter to the Record-Press for quite a while. Been sick.

No tobacco stripped. Farmers feeling rather blue about the prospects.

Died January 5th, at 12:30 o'clock p. m., Mrs. Sythaan Wolford, wife of Samuel Wolford, near New Salem. Mother Wolford had passed her three score and ten years, she had been an invalid. She died of pneumonia. Mother Wolford had just been waiting for the Master's call to come up higher and rest from her pilgrimage. She was our neighbor and friend and a good christian woman. She leaves besides her aged husband, seven children, all of which were with her except Mary and John J., who live in Indiana. Her husband and children have the sympathy of all their neighbors in this their sad afflictions.

Mrs. Florence Harpending and children of Salem, are the guests of John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Harpending.

Last week our farmers commenced to plow for the 1913 crop, but the snow put a stop to it.

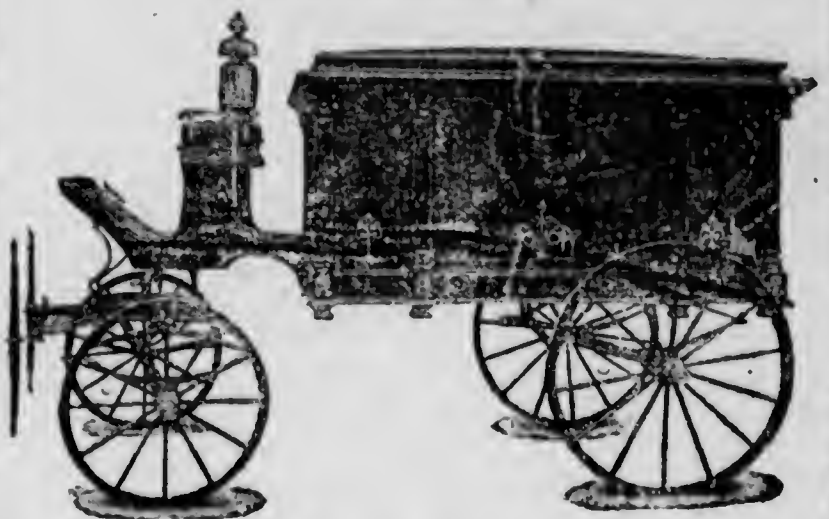

Mrs. Luther Pace spent last week the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Austin near Piney.

Miss Ruth and Tom Austin of Piney, were the guests of their sister, Mrs. Pace, near New Salem.

Wm. Belt from near the Memphis mines has moved on the farm of John Loftess.

We notice what Old Wind Bag of Cross Roads says of our army record, but feel to feeble to answer the old Bald Headed Rascal, will notice his remarks later on will just say that if old Annals had lived in our day and time and had been acquainted with two old gents of our acquaintance, he would have called for the rocks and mountains to fall on him.

LETTER FROM CARRSVILLE

Which Gives The News of That Little City And Mining Developments.

The flour spar demand since the first of the year has greatly decreased. The United States Steel Company's open order to ship in an unlimited way up to Dec. 31st, was probably the cause of so great a tonnage going forward up to the end of the year from the southern Illinois mines. Flour spar from now on to the spring demand will be pressed for sale from every point where it is mined. It is such a prime collateral that the banks could safely loan 85 per cent of its value aboard cars and be absolutely safe. By doing this the prices per ton of the various grades, could be held firmly and the usual demoralization of price cutting be avoided.

Senator James' attention has been called to the reef of rocks along the shore front of the Ohio river at this point and he will probably request the United States engineering department to investigate the same and if practicable to remove them. This danger to navigation once out of the way, would cause the shore line here to become a very great receiving and shipping point. The zinc from Lola, as well as flour spar from various points within 12 to 15 miles, would reach Carrsville for direct shipment while the coal for Salem, Lola, Joy, Hardesty, Irma, etc., would come here by water and be freighted inland at a much lower price to the people than now prevails.

It is understood that a small but active lobby will proceed to Washington in the interest of retaining the present $3.00 per gross ton import duty upon flour spar.

The suffragette movement in New York and other cities to reduce the price per dozen of eggs has been so successful, that every laying hen in this section is mad and most of them have given up producing eggs giving as a reason that they will not compete with machinery, meaning perhaps the "incubator."

Some very handsomely marked gray fox skins have been received by Davis Bros., during the week. They were killed not many miles from town and would make a very beautiful set of furs for a tall willowy girl.

The first postal package under the new act was mailed from here to Geo. Roberts, Marion, Ky., by his father. The weight was four pounds and the postage was 14 cents.

The result of the postoffice primary at Marion will be eagerly looked for at this point. Just now it seems that younger blood should take hold of the outer spokes of the democratic wheel and give it a good strong impetus hence many of us are in hopes John Wilson will be the winner and so give the weary old timers a few months rest from holding offices.

An incomplete but fairly accurate census here indicates that we must stand pretty near the high average point for pensions. If ever an enactment goes through pensioning widows, Carrsville will celebrate. This beats any seaport town in New England in the number of relicts, as they are termed in that part of the country, and what is more important, every one of them is mighty good looking which really cannot be truthfully said of the New England variety.

We hope the Marion people will care for Mr. Denny as much as we have here. So far as Mrs. Denny and Gilbert, the little son are concerned, they will receive the warmest corner in your hearts and homes. They are that kind of people.

Missing—A man by the name of Hammack, who was due here Monday last, but did not show up. It is impossible to describe him accurately. He wears clothes boots and shoes at times of a pleasant cast of imagination with an occasional story that no one could possibly believe. Information should be phoned to the town constable at Witherspoon's.
